

1.2.41

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, March 16, 2004

www.unc.bz

1. Ted, I love you and I give you praise for who you have become, who you have become so far, and who you will become, who you will become in Me as long as you continue to bow your knee; as long as you continue to bow your heart, as long as you continue to come before Me daily with thanksgiving and praise and worship and allowing Me to do what I want to do, allowing Me to be Me, and allowing Me to speak, to speak in you, to speak to you, and to speak through you—to speak, to speak humbly and let My words come humbly through you.
2. Now Ted, I love you and I give you praise as I told you before, not like you praise Me, but like I give praise—the way I come before and touch and heal and significance. You have felt My hand, you have felt My confidence, you have felt My healing, and you are feeling My hand even as you move to establish this first WeekWorks. It is not by might, not by power, but by My Spirit, Ted. Only I can do this and I am doing it. I chose the time, I chose the place, I chose the players, and I am choosing the participants.
3. I come and I call and I have come and I have called, and I have come and I have called. Day after day I have come, and I have called the hearts, the minds, the spirit, the lives of many into being serious for Me, serious with Me so that I can bring the joy and laughter of heaven into their lives, and strip out of them the negativity that is inbred into them from almost birth, and the ways of mammon which destroy and never, never, never yield enough—bags with holes, bags with holes, bags with holes in them.
4. I love you, Ted, and I love My listeners. I love My hearers. I love My readers. And hear Me well, I love My writers. I love My scribes. I love My prophets and apostles and teachers and pastors and preachers. I love every evangelist. I love every gift. I love every vocation because I love the vocater because I love My people, the workmanship of My hands.
5. And I have provided so much in My University—the University of The New Covenant will come forth in radiance and shine upon you, but only for you to reflect all that comes to you, to Me, and to those who are looking
6. And I warn you, Ted, I warn you, I have warned you in the past; review My warnings, review My statements, review My wrath potential, review where you came from, review where you were without Me. Review Ted. Remember from whence you came. And I solemnly swear to you today that you must remember that and you must remember these things and you must never, ever exalt yourself.

You cannot take credit for what I do. You can only take credit for your obedience and even your obedience is empowered by Me, but your heart chose Me. Your heart chose Me. Your heart panted after Me day after day, day after day, whether in sorrow and pain or victorious joy, feelings across the spectrum, you came to Me and you come and you believe. So, therefore, I come and I praise.

7. Now lift up the fallen and forsake not the error-filled, forsake not those who your flesh wants to damn and leave alone.

8. I am God and you are Mine and I have put the plate a little lower as you have asked Me, time after time, and I put it low enough, Ted, that you have stepped in it and now I am picking up the plate.

And reflect Me you must. Reflect Me you will. And I will rebuke you sternly if you forget.

9. I bring very powerful people into your path now. I do what I said I would do and I do it with great joy. I joy in our relationship and I joy in our times together. I joy that you believe. I joy in every obedience, in every action you take to walk out Me and the words I have given you. Now walk calmly and peaceably, peacefully, meekly among the powerful people that I bring you.

10. And let not money or power distort your path, because your path is one-way only, in Me. Review My warnings. Review My promises. You know who you are, you know where you are headed. Don't delay or divert. All is in Me.

11. Now glean and glisten. Glean and glisten. Glean all that I have for you, for My Body, and present it in humble, meek love. And I thank you.

12. Angry with no one ever.

13. I am Me and I love you and I thank you for letting Me come through you more. I love you. I love you. I love you.

14. Now take the plan that is on your pages, your yellow tablets, and into more substance fashion them to distribute to My who want to believe in Me and what I am doing. Share not with those you discern are only destructive, only destroying, but open fully to My who want Me.

15. I love you. I come. I blow on this time, the speakers, the seekers, and I say thank you. I speak to many now and I bring many funds, many resources and many accolades and, Ted, they are all Mine, they are all Mine, they are all Mine. Thank you for remembering Me and what is yours and what is Mine. Ted, I am yours. I am yours. I am all yours and they are all Mine.

16. I love you and I bless you. I keep you safe this day for you are in the hollow of My hand and you walk with Me and you talk with Me and I walk with you and I talk with you and together we share. We share in love, we share in laughter and we share in tears.

17. Thank you for caring about My joys, but thank you more for caring about the fellowship of My sufferings.

18. I love you and I bless you. I love you reader, hearer, listener, wonderer. I love you so deeply. I want to share with you more. I want to bring you My words each day. I want to bring you My daily instructions each day. I want to affirm you. I want to call your name to only you and I want to call your new name to you and to the world.

19. I thank you for reading, listening, wondering. I thank you for acting on these instructions, these words, this conveyance of My desire into your heart to draw you near to Me.

20. Peaceful be, anxious not. Let no headlines take your peace. Let no destruction take your peace. Your peace is found only in Me. I love you and I draw you to Me.

21. Ronnie, I draw you nearer to Me—My heart, My heart, My heart, your heart—one. I love you Ronnie, and I bless you this day and I elevate you well. Your day of escalation is here and I bless you.

22. Strategic, strategic, strategic be. And you have My mind on some of these things. On paper put them all and share.

23. I love you My Singaporeans, I love you My Singaporeans all and I bless you this day.